

PENNYGHAEL COMMUNITY HALL NEWSLETTER - AUTUMN 2022

Six months have passed since our last newsletter and we thought it was about time to update you all again on how the hall is progressing.

Although our building work of renovating the kitchen, adding in a disabled toilet and ramp has been delayed, the trustees have been working hard behind the scenes to keep everything progressing and moving forward to be able to open the hall as soon as possible. We are hoping and praying that at the beginning of 2023, we can start planning our first events!

During April this year, the committee got all the stainless-steel counters and kitchen equipment ordered so would be ready to get going once the renovation work is completed. New paint was also purchased for the hall as well as black-out blinds. All this work is making the hall ready for a wide range of events hopefully including some movie nights in the near future.

The black-out blinds have been fitted in the classroom now and painting has been completed in the hallway and started in the office. This has made a massive difference compared to the original yellow paint which has been there for some years.

You can find us on Facebook and on our website at:

Copies of our recent minutes, annual accounts and policy documents are all available on the website.

The hall was also decorated in colourful bunting for the Queen's Platinum Jubilee in May which I have no doubt was noticed by most people!

With thanks to Reg Morgan, the hall's noticeboard has been fixed and put back up. Reg is also very kindly fitting our new sign to wood for us so keep an eye out for that going up at the hall.

Starlink Internet has also been ordered and is now in place in the hall ready for the community to use once the hall is up and running.

We are all super eager and excited to get the hall renovations complete and open for holding events.

As always, we welcome anyone who is interested in coming along to join us in creating a welcoming, thriving and joyful hub for all.
